

Eating the Earth

How Natural Resources Affect Food

Native Americans in Blue Island

August 25th at 7 PM

Archaeologist Paula Bryant will give a presentation on findings from recent excavations performed by the Illinois State Archaeological Survey.

Water, Water Everywhere: Rivers, Flooding, and Climate Change

September 1st at 7 PM

Josh Ellis from the Calumet Stormwater Collaborative will speak on how life here is increasingly shaped by H₂O.

Conscious Foraging

October 6th at 7 PM

Come hear Joe O'Meara of Blue Island's BIOS Farm talk about how these practices impact the environment and receive free samples of easy to forage local plants.

Fish Food: How Water Quality Affects Anglers

November 3rd at 7 PM

Speaker Claire Snyder of the Friends of the Chicago River will present on how anglers fit into efforts to improve water quality for people and wildlife.

The Bee-pocalypse?

December 1st at 7 PM

The media is full of bad news about declining bee populations, but how are bees doing in the south suburbs? Come learn about how we can help these essential pollinators.

Blue Island Historical Society

For more information about Friends of the Forest Preserves contact Chris Weber at (773) 746 - 5223 or chris@fotfp.org

For information about the Blue Island Library contact Meghan White at (708) 388 - 1078 ext 30 or mwhite@blueislandlibrary.org